

ROOM TEMPERATURE STABLE COMPETENT CELLS

Abstract

The invention provides storage-stable competent cells which retain good viability over long periods of time at room temperature (e.g., least one month). In one embodiment, a composition is provided comprising a mixture of competent cells and a glass-forming matrix material. Methods for generating room temperature stable competent cells are also provided.